

Chapter I : Synopsis

Dr.PD:

the world is nothing but a battlefield, humans are nothing but weapons, their minds are nothing but a demon holding vessel.

Everyday humans become more corrupted, they only think about war. Their ultimate call is nothing but destruction and power. Who holds the power wins.

Humans keep on fighting, if you win you live, if you lose you die.

The most powerful nations hold the most powerful army. Their soldiers keep on shedding blood until their opponents are nothing but shredded pieces of meat, fragment of bones, their souls are dispersed lost within the unknown world.

But fighters tend to lose their minds during this endless battle. They hallucinate, the fear, they are trapped to this atrocity, they can't escape.

Normal citizens will call it detachment from our world, doctors will call it PTSD.

These soldiers cannot fight anymore, such a loss of man weapons, such a loss to the nation, such a losing war.

These soldiers must be exterminated, they are of no use anymore, no rusty weapon can shoot a being, no rusty weapon can kill a flea. They must be exterminated.

Such a loss to the nation, half of humans, half of the weapons will get buried deep down in the dirt.

Such a loss to the nation. Humans can not allow it, we can not allow it, we must fight, we must scatter, we must destroy, we must win, we must keep on fighting.

Doctors, scientists all gather up, a solution must be found for the sake of victory, a long term solution that is.

Most brilliant brains, most destructive brains should come up with a solution.

I Dr.PD will help my nation, I Dr.PD will save my nation, I Dr.PD hold the solution.

I came up with a Drug, to heal these PTSD soldiers so they can fight longer, and never face the fate of disposal.

I Dr.PD the prodigy scientist will exterminate the opponent with my drug.

Therefore I ask from this Nation to deliver me some experiment subjects, so I can conduct my tests, and prove to you the accuracy of my Drug.

I pledge my neck for the success of my Drug.

President:

Our respected Scientist, you may conduct your experiment. We allow you to choose whomever you want as subjects. But under one condition:

Our soldiers are too precious to us, they are our hope, we can't risk doing experiments on them, however normal citizens are of no use, they only consume and never fight we do not need no fighters, choose your rats from the citizens but make it as discreet as possible, if a single word comes out, your neck will not be enough to satisfy my salvation, I will serve your meat on my dining table.

Dr.PD: your holiness, no fear, I will keep my head on my shoulders for the longest time that you your highness may allow me to have.

Thus Dr.PD made an announcement in morning news:

Dear most beloved citizens, we value your health more than anything in the world, we want to evolve this nation, and make our citizens the best out there, therefore if you suffer under anxiety, phobia, dissociation, or experience any kind of similar symptoms, you are cordially called over to our research laboratory, within the shibouta-district to take measure against what is making your life harder.

Dear Citizens let us all have a happy and peaceful life.

Chapter II : inception

Niel:

My head hurts, my body aches all over, it hurts, it hurts, it hurts, please someone save me. I may seem like some ordinary university student. I act at least like some ordinary university student.

I may wear the same clothes that are sold in the stores, I may walk on the same streets as you, I may attend the same university as you, I may live in the same district as you, but my mind is definitely different from yours.

I am not quite sure when it began, I assume it started since I was 7 years old, or maybe before that. My memory may deceive me. I look at the same person as you, but I see a monster, I listen to the same words and speeches as you, but I hear different words, different screams, different cries, we step on the same stone and steel, but I stride on water, I stride on fire, I stride on burning charcoal, I stride on clouds, it changes. My eyes perceive a different world, my ears hark different sounds, my hands touch different beings. I live in a different world within the same world as you.

It hurts, it hurts, my head hurts. It is too painful to bear. I want help, I need help.

.....Announcement in the public big screens is running

Deep in thoughts, life changing decision:

What could ever happen, If I do participate? Will I be cured? I lived so long with my monsters, I got used to my monsters, my monsters are my reality, but it hurts, it hurts so much, I sometimes want to escape but can't.

Do I want to escape? Do I want to mend? Do I want to be detached from my reality that is not real? From my world that is tormenting me?

I should take action. Living in pain is not what I want. Living in despair is not what I dream of. I want to ameliorate. I am getting cured.

Chapter III : story of the game

As Niel finally accepts the fact that she needs treatment, and tries to detach herself from her misfortune, she decides to get treated at the research center in the Shibouta-district operating under Dr.PD, to take the pills supposedly developed to cure her psychological issues.

Hidden Stories: how do the pills function :

The pills are composed mainly of millico-carragenoid a strong chemical compound causing the solidification of objects, accompanied by diflouromethane and nitrous-oxide that calls your deep thoughts and fears to the surface. To sum it up it objectivizes your psychological issues and make them real to you.

Some patient met their destiny while fighting their inner demon :

Stabbing themselves with a glorified expression, thinking they stabbed the monster and killed it.

Strangling themselves with a terrified expression, admitting their defeat and fear in front of the demon, trying to escape it.

Intoxicating their bodies with a powerful expression, thinking they were doping their bodies with power-enhancing formulas so they are able to fight the demons.

Many cases showed the failure of the drugs, but at the same time proved the potential it holds.

Dr.PD will bury this secret deep down the oceans. Life of consumers, normal citizens is not significant, they may all disperse in thin air for the sake of succession.

Other cases need to be studied, further experiments shall take place. More citizens need to encounter the face of death for the sake of the nation. Hope shall not be lost.

Niel participates in the experiment unknowingly, and as the drug promises, her inner demons are objectivized. She sees them, she touches them, it is a battle, no peace anymore, no sleep anymore, no serenity anymore.

The inner battle is launched.

Niel goes through the journey to fight these demons. Will success cross her path. Will she win? Will she survive? It all depends on your skills. You hold her fate in your hands. You control her lifespan.

Kill them. Slaughter them. Let the Carnage rise.

- Synopsis: Drugs for Soldiers
- Introduction: Main Character
- Display of problem
- "Solution"
- Introduction: Doctor
- Drugs
- Introduction: Demon and all of its aspects
- Dealing with the situation
- Confronting the lesser demons
- Interaction between MC and Doc
- Confronting the demon
- Success or failure
- End